Ephesians 3:14-21

Explore space of imagination, hoping, dreaming. Ask and imagine. Godly Imagination. God's Prayer. God's Vision.

What is your imagination for your congregation? streets? neighbors? family? yourself?

How do we shape our prayers so that our imagination is shaped by Christ in us?

Shared imagination, shaped by God's vision for the world.

God's imagination birthed the world. God's imagination creates, sets people free, heals sin and death, who sent Moses and brought His people out of Egypt and created his people into His nation, rescues, is victorious, provides, sends prophets, and persistently calls His people to be His own....

God who opens scriptures and Jesus who speaks and God who pours out His spirit.

In the here and now God's vision holds true--lame walk, blind see, captives unshackled, no people--holy people...

What might God's imagination call us to ask?

God's Wild Imagination for what Transformation can look like when we are obedient servants led by the Spirit!

Do our eyes see like Jesus that anyone/everyone can be transformed?

What is God's imagination for the world? God's vision is that all may know Jesus!

Do we align ourselves with God who takes the broken and makes it whole?

Look what God has done!

Each person we encounter is in the image of God.

Do we need God's imagination to envision right relationships?

Do we believe that there can be a softening of hard hearts? hard nations? hard situations?

God's imagination is for a new family!

Immersive experience of faith where we become family by blood of Jesus.

Power and possibility of Jesus to bring enemies together in Him as brothers.

God's Imagination is Wild!

Able to do far more than we ask or imagine!

Not for ourselves but for the Kingdom of God when it is unleashed here on earth. Because we are rooted and grounded in the love of God, our imagination is reshaped and reformed to become like Christ's.

God's imagination released in us set us free to dream and hope and ask.

I am a story keeper for the Kingdom.

Do we see God's daring at work in us? What is God asking us to imagine?

We pray expectant that God can do more.

God's imagination and asking is for the normal, ordinary, day to dayness, the tiny yeses to God over and over again.

Called in our gifts uniquely.

We belong to each other.

Equipped to be the church in the world.

Christ has the Victory already!!

I am called to be uniquely me. You are called to be uniquely you. Together we are called to demonstrate the wildness of God's imagination.

Are our imaginations too domesticated? We want your will. Make us a daring people.

He is with us in the most mundane.

God Re-Wild us.
